Application Eligibility (2)

The requirements (2) and (3) of “Applicant Eligibility (1)” on p. 7 are as follows. Applicants must meet all of the requirements listed on the “Applicant Eligibility (1)” on p. 7, including these requirements.

■ A person with a grade of 2.5 or higher on the academic performance coefficient set by Toyo University at the undergraduate level of the applicant’s most recent university (including expected graduation)

① Academic performance to be used for the calculation

Academic grades should be assessed based solely on grades earned in regular courses, and the academic performance coefficient at the undergraduate level of the applicant’s most recent university (including expected graduation) should be calculated, excluding grades earned as research students, etc. (non-regular courses, Japanese language institutes, etc.).

When calculating based on grades from multiple universities, etc., the calculation criteria should be aligned based on the ② Calculation procedure below.

② Calculation procedure

Calculate the “evaluation points” according to the table below and apply them to the calculation formula.

Category	Grade evaluation
4-level evaluation		Excellent	Good	Satisfactory	Failure
4-level evaluation		A	B	C	F
4-level evaluation		100-80 points	79-70 points	69-60 points	59 points or lower
5-level evaluation	S	A	B	C	F
5-level evaluation	A	B	C	D	F
5-level evaluation	100-90 points	89-80 points	79-70 points	69-60 points	59 points or lower
Points of evaluation	3	3	2	1	0

(Formula)

$$\frac{(\text{Number of credits for evaluation point 3} \times 3) + (\text{Number of credits for evaluation point 2} \times 2) + (\text{Number of credits for evaluation point 1} \times 1) + (\text{Number of credits for evaluation point 0} \times 0)}{\text{Total credits registered}}$$

Total credits registered

- *1 If the credit system is not used for classes taken, the number of credits should be replaced by the number of courses.
- *2 For transfer students, the number of credits after the transfer should be included. If the grade evaluation before the transfer (grades at the school attended immediately prior to the current university) included in the most recent four-year period is not reflected in the credits after transfer, the calculation should be made based on the grade evaluation before the transfer.
- *3 Evaluations that are not included in the grade evaluation table above (e.g., “approved,” “passed,” etc.) should not be included.
- *4 Fractional numbers in the academic achievement coefficient should be rounded down to two decimal places.
- *5 For evaluation levels not listed in the above table (e.g., 8-level, 10-level, etc.), if there is an official conversion table (e.g., 100-point conversion table) from the university that issued the student’s Grade Report or from a public institution such as a local government, the academic achievement coefficient should be calculated using the conversion table.

■ A person who satisfies the standards of language proficiency (Japanese or English) set by Toyo University.

① Japanese track curriculum students

A person who has passed the Japanese-Language Proficiency Test N1 or the former Level 1 (only tests administered by the Japan Educational Exchanges and Services or the Japan Foundation (co-sponsoring cooperative organizations) are accepted)

② English track curriculum students (targeting Graduate Schools and Courses that have an English track curriculum)

Cancellation of Accreditation, Suspension of Support, and Disqualification as Top Leading Scholarship Students

- (1) The Scholarship Student fails to complete the admission procedure of Toyo University by the specified date without a valid reason.
- (2) The Scholarship Student loses matriculation eligibility.
- (3) Notification of declining the status of the Top Leading Scholarship Student is accepted.
- (4) It is determined that false information or other irregularities exist in the application documents.
- (5) The Scholarship Student significantly defames the reputation of Toyo University.
- (6) Other cases in which the Dean's Council deems the student inappropriate as a Top Leading Scholarship Student.

2. Suspension of support

If any of the following apply after enrollment as a Top Leading Scholarship Student, support will be suspended.

- (1) The Scholarship Student takes a leave of absence.
- (2) The Scholarship Student studies or lives overseas for 1 semester or longer.
- (3) The Top Leading Scholarship Student fails to renew their accreditation.

In addition, if the Scholarship Student continues to enroll in the Toyo University Graduate School after losing the status of Scholarship Student, he/she will be required to pay the prescribed amount of fees.

Obtaining Status of Residence

I. General matters

- (1) Students admitted to the university as Top Leading Scholarship Students must have “student” status of residence as of April 1, 2026. Any other short-, medium-, or long-term status of residence does not allow you to enroll in the university. Please be sure to check the information in II (1) or III (2) below for cancellation of enrollment.
- (2) Top Leading Scholarship Students who have been accepted to the university can apply for the student status of residence.
- (3) Students are required to follow the procedures for admission to the university, including advance procedures, various orientations, and the enrollment procedure held on each campus.
Please note that some faculties, graduate schools, and majors may require separate preliminary procedures. In that case, they must also be completed.
- (4) Please note that the university will not be held responsible for any disadvantages associated with missing classes, etc. due to the prescribed procedures for residence status applications, reapplications, cancellation lawsuits, etc.

II. For those who have a valid status of residence in Japan (those who currently reside in Japan)

*Those with status of residence other than student are not eligible to enroll in the university. Applicants are required to obtain student status of residence in Japan before entering the university. Applicants who do not have student status of residence should refer to “III. For applicants without a valid status of residence in Japan (those who do not reside in Japan)” and follow the instructed procedure. Even if the applicant has a student status residence, he/she should apply for an extension of stay according to the current expiration date of his/her status of residence.

However, if any of the following applies to the applicant, he/she may be required to leave Japan once and follow the same procedures outlined in “III. For applicants without a valid status of residence in Japan (those who do not reside in Japan). In such cases, the university will not apply for renewal of his/her student status of residence.

- 1) The applicant obtained student status of residence at the educational institution he/she attended prior to enrolling at the university, and there is a gap of more than 3 months between the completion (graduation) of the course of study at the previous educational institution and his/her enrollment at the university.
- 2) The applicant obtained student status of residence at the educational institution that he/she attended prior to enrolling at the university, and the university has deemed it inappropriate to apply for permission to extend his/her period of stay because he/she left (or plans to leave) the previous (or currently enrolled) educational institution without completing (graduating from) the course of study there, regardless of the timing.

*It should be noted that, depending on the circumstances, their Certificate of Eligibility for Resident Status may not be issued in time for enrollment on April 1, 2026. However, the university will not be held responsible for any disadvantages resulting from missed classes, etc., that result in such cases.

- (1) If you have not obtained student status of residence as of April 1, 2026 (except when your application for extension of period of stay or change your status of residence is being processed), your admission to the university will be canceled as of March 31, 2026.
*The period when your application for extension of period of stay or change your status of residence is being processed includes the period required for resident status reapplication or actions for cancellation.
- (2) If you apply to extend your period of stay or change your status of residence as of April 1, 2026, and if it is not confirmed by May 31, 2026 that you are allowed to extend your period of stay or change your status of residence, you will be dismissed from the university as of the date designated by the university.
*The period when your application for extension of period of stay or change your status of residence is being processed includes the period required for resident status reapplication or actions for cancellation.
- (3) If you need to apply for an extension of period of your stay or change your status of residence to “student”, the university will issue an application form designated by the Immigration Services Agency of Japan.

III. For applicants without a valid status of residence in Japan (those who do not reside in Japan)

Admission to the university requires that the applicant possesses student status of residence as of April 1, 2026. Even if the procedure takes a long time, the applicant is required to come to Japan after obtaining a Certificate of Eligibility for Status of Residence (COE) and a visa, submit your Residence Card to the university, and complete the prescribed procedures by April 30, 2026.

- (1) Proxy application for a Certificate of Eligibility for Status of Residence (COE)
 - 1) When the applicant completes the prescribed admission procedures, a legal administrative scrivener appointed by the university may file a proxy application for a COE on his/her behalf to the Immigration Services Agency of Japan. After the screening process, the Immigration Service Agency of Japan will issue the COE. After receiving the COE, a legal administrative scrivener appointed by the university will send it to the applicant. Upon receiving the COE, the applicant should immediately visit a Japanese diplomatic office in his/her country or a country of residence, carrying the COE to go through the visa application process.
 - 2) The status of residence that can be obtained by proxy application is student.
 - 3) A Financial Supporting Document is necessary for a proxy application. Since the issuance of a Certificate of Academic Fee Payment Ability may take a long time, it is advised to allow for an adequate amount of time to prepare for the certificate.
 - 4) When requesting the university to apply for COE on behalf, the applicant should correctly indicate the number of past applications and the number of issuances. In addition, if the COE is not issued due to a false report made in the submitted documents and input contents, the university will not accept requests for proxy application for reapplication.
 - 5) The screening procedure for a COE is conducted by the Immigration Services Agency of Japan, while the screening procedure for a visa is conducted by a Japanese diplomatic office in a country of your residence respectively. The university takes no responsibility even if a COE or a visa is not issued. In the case where a COE is not issued, the university will not apply for reapplication of a COE as a proxy.
 - 6) In principle, the applicant cannot change his/her status of residence from temporary visitor to student in Japan. It is required for the applicant to come to Japan after receiving a visa from a Japanese diplomatic office in his/her country or a country of residence.
- (2) If it cannot be confirmed by April 30, 2026 that you have obtained a Residence Card, admission to the university will be canceled as of March 31, 2026, regardless of the reason, even if you are reapplying for a status of residence and have taken an action for cancellation.
- (3) If the applicant does not follow the prescribed procedures by April 30, 2026, despite having obtained a Residence Card, he/she will be dismissed from the university as of April 30, 2026.

Details will be announced in the Admission Procedure Guide distributed after the announcement of application results.

Support Schemes for International Students

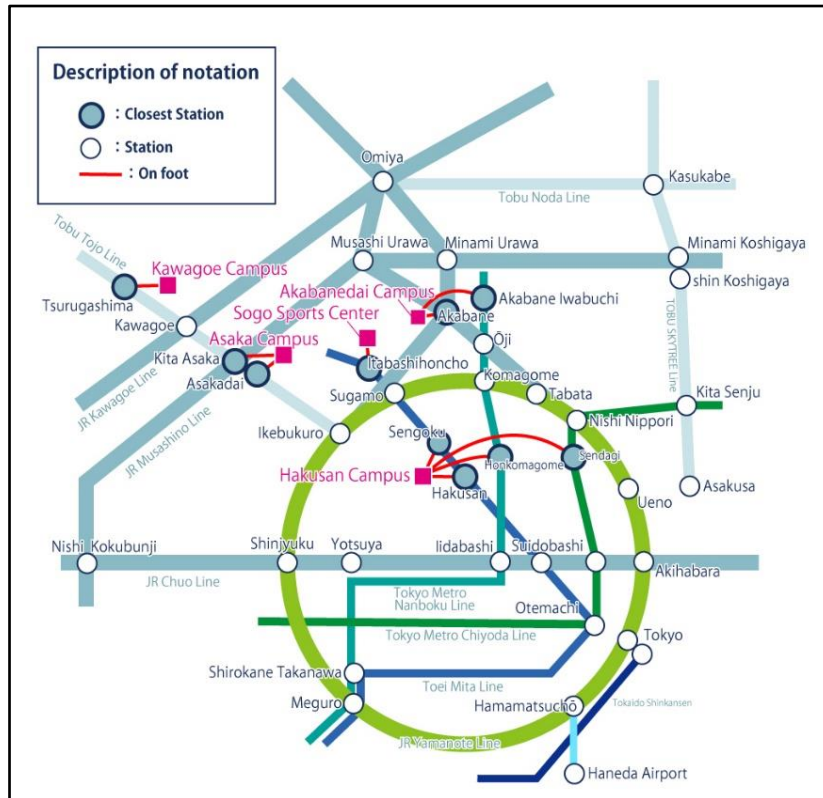

Guarantor support (for international students) in looking for an apartment

In Japan, when you rent an apartment, you need a “guarantor.” The guarantor is responsible for paying the rent for the renter if the renter does not pay it. Japanese students usually ask someone closely related to them, for example, their parents, to become their guarantors, which may be difficult for international students. If this case applies to you, you may need to use a guarantor company.

Toyo University has had an agreement with Global Trust Networks Co., Ltd. International students of Toyo University who use this company’s guarantor service are entitled to a 20% discount on the guarantor service fee. Global Trust Networks also supports apartment searches in many languages, including Japanese, English, Chinese, Korean, Vietnamese, and Nepalese, and it deals in many apartments for international students.
